Beware of Scams

As college costs continue to rise, students and their parents search for ways to cover their educational expenses. There are some unscrupulous companies that take advantage of the situation by “guaranteeing” scholarships and grants in exchange for an advance fee.

Scholarship Tips

#1—APPLY FOR FINANCIAL AID.

Don't assume you won't qualify. Plenty of scholarships and free grants are available regardless of income, but you need to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to prequalify for most.

File your FAFSA beginning October 1 of each year at studentaid.gov. NSU's federal school code is 001509.

#2—COMPLETE THE NSU SCHOLARSHIP PROFILE ANNUALLY.

By completing the NSU profile each year, you are automatically considered for thousands of dollars in institutional awards. Additionally, look for scholarships at religious organizations, local and national groups such as Rotary Clubs, professional unions, and labor organizations. If you don't find a match in one place, keep looking. You never know which ones will come through. Several small scholarships can pay off just as well as one large one.

#3—BEAT THE CROWD.

Scholarships are awarded on a first come, first served basis. Check deadlines and submit your application(s) early.

#4—AIM FOR SUCCESS.

Carefully read the eligibility requirements for each scholarship, and apply accordingly. Fully complete applications to avoid instant disqualification. Whenever possible, supplement your application with personal letters of recommendation. Document your community service activities and awards. Find creative ways to enhance your application and show the scholarship committee why your skills make you the perfect candidate!

#5—FIND YOUR EDGE AND INVITE REVIEWS.

Scholarship providers read thousands of essays responding to the same prompt, which makes it critical for you to find your edge and use it to your advantage. One practice that will help is having someone else review your work. Before you submit your application, ask a friend or family member for feedback. A second set of eyes can easily catch typos and inconsistencies that we may have trouble seeing ourselves.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) cautions students and parents to look for these telltale lines:

- “I just need your credit card or bank account number to hold this scholarship.”
- “The scholarship will cost some money.”
- “You're a finalist” in a contest you never entered.

If you determine you are the victim of a scam, you can file a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission at ftc.gov.
